YEARS REMEMBERED

A cap, a gown, and then class night,
A smile, a dream that you hold tight.
A word of cheer to all who know
The lump in your throat that you dare not show.

No words nor dreams nor deeds can express
The way you feel in a graduation dress.
Down the aisle with heads held high
Walk you, the seniors, each with a smile.

A smile that hides all the fears,
A smile which soon may turn to tears,
A smile that looks back on all you've done,
A smile that says, "Not finished, just begun."

"This is your night," the smile seems to say.
"A night which did seem so far away.
This is your night, your dream come true.
This is your night; the rest is up to you."

You look back, just four years ago—
You do not know what the future holds.
You can only hope and dream, but now you know
The past is forgotten; the future unfolds.

CLASS HISTORY

Our class of 1951 will leave the sacred halls of J. W. Cannon High School as students when our graduation exercises are completed. But our hearts will always remain with our Alma Mater. The pleasant memories of our school days, far from the worldly problems of adulthood, will not be forgotten.

Among our fondest memories is the day in September of 1947, when we entered Cannon High to drop our first pebble into the ocean of broader education.

The first ripple made by the pebble revealed much pleasure as we became accustomed to the ways and means of the school that was to be our home for the next four years. Our class adviser, Miss Willie Mae Cowan, and the following officers: Freddy Martin, President; Guy Linker, Vice-President; Floyd Echerd, Secretary; Ray McKinney, Treasurer; and Barbara Rogers and Charles Castor, Representatives to Student Council, helped us get established in this institution for a successful year.

Our first class party was in the form of a dance in the school gymnasium. It was a huge success and was enjoyed by all who attended.

At the close of the year our principal, Mr. J. R. Melton, resigned in order to study for his doctor's degree.

The second ripple grew larger as we entered our sophomore year. We shed our title of "Green Freshmen," and took our new one of "Sophisticated Sophomores." Sophomores—music to our ears. We figured that we knew just about all there was to know about high school, but we were only beginning to learn.

We had our first representative in the Student Government, who was Nancy Shelf, Treasurer of the organization. Our officers elected this year were: Charles Castor, President; Phyllis Freeland, Vice-President; Sara Carpenter, Secretary; Floyd Davis, Treasurer; Betty Collins and Danny Gray, Council Members. Our adviser was Miss Elizabeth Graham. Mr. Fred O. Drummond came from Mt. Holly to be our new principal.

We were very proud when some of our classmates were tapped into the National Honor Society. It is quite an honor for a Sophomore to be chosen as a member of that organization.

This year the school band went to the Lion's Club Convention in New York City.

We had our annual class party in May. It was a picnic and swimming party at Mirror's Lake. The cool weather didn't keep us from enjoying swimming, playing golf, and eating.

The third ripple expanded even more and we found ourselves in the Junior Class.

In October, at our class meeting, we chose to lead us: Betty Collins, President; Gene McCombs, Vice-President; Zeb Bradford, Secretary; Sara Carpenter, Treasurer; Annie Lou Cook and Zeb Bradford, Council Representatives; and Betty Collins, Social Chairman. We had Miss Nadine Gragg as our adviser. In the Student Government, Janice Wood represented us as Secretary of the Student Body.

EVELYN GARRISS

This was to be an eventful year for us, as Juniors. We had our first class play, "There Go The Grooms," which was directed by Miss Adeline Rogers.

Everyone was excited over our first big prom. The Seniors entertained us at Christmas with a Senior-Junior Prom, carrying out the theme "Holiday Inn."

The greatest event of this year was the trip made by the third year history classes to Washington, D. C. We visited the historical buildings in the capital and also the Luray Caverns in Virginia on our return trip.

We ordered our long-awaited-for class rings and pins and proudly displayed them in April.

Climaxing the year was the Junior-Senior Prom, using the mysterious theme, "Arabian Nights." Palm trees, Arabian tents, and beautifully colored draperies made it a night of splendor long to be remembered.

As the circle grew wider into spheres of greater influence, we were at last "dignified" Seniors.

Betty Collins, President; Gene McCombs, Vice-President; Ramona Self, Secretary; Zeb Bradford, Treasurer; Betty Collins and Danny Gray, Councilors; and Charlesana Logan, Social Chairman, led us through an exciting and busy year. At a meeting early in the year we elected Janie Kale, Prophet; Evelyn Garriss, Historian; and Bill Fulcher, Lawyer.

There were so many things to be done. Class colors, flowers, superlatives, and mascots were chosen. Our class poem, song, last wills, and activities were written. We had our pictures made and did all that exciting business of ordering calling cards, announcements, caps and gowns, and diplomas. It was our turn to have Senior Day. We chose maroon and white for our colors, the gardenia for our flower, and Diane Slawson and Junior Cranford for our mascots. To Mr. Lester McCarn, we dedicated our yearbook.

During our twelve years of school, we had looked forward to the time when we could march down the aisle with solemn dignity to the Baccalaureate Sermon, the Class Day Exercises, and across the stage to receive our diplomas. But now that the time had finally arrived, there was a peculiar feeling deep inside us. It hardly seemed true that, after these years of "toiling and struggling," we were leaving our Alma Mater. It was hard to realize that we would not be coming back here as students anymore, that we were parting from many of our friends, never to see them again.

We had spent a most wonderful four years in high school. Though the last ripple of our high school career had passed, its joys will never fade from our memories.

CANNON MILLS COMPANY

KANNAPOLIS, NORTH CAROLINA, U. S. A.

CLASS PROPHECY

About two weeks ago I made my debut as a promising ballet dancer with a small troupe in New York City. We had booked several more performances and were traveling by plane. Our next stop was to have been North Carolina, and I was looking forward to seeing some of my friends there. We had plane trouble over Virginia and crashed just outside of Richmond. Suffering from a brain concussion, I lapsed into a coma. While I was in this coma, I saw all the members of my graduating class at J. W. Cannon High School.

After completing his course at the Baptist Seminary in Louisville, Kentucky, Tommy Hartis had become a great evangelist. Assisting him with the music were Eleanor Foil and Mary Ann Vickers. Nancy Shepherd was a youth leader and Doris Huneycutt was a choir director in a Baptist church.

Three of my classmates, Phyllis Safrit, Ann Keziah, and Rebecca Phillips had won international fame as artists, while Nell Pope was a sculptor of modern arts. Floyd Davis and Jo Ann Woolard sketched comic strips for the New York Sunday News.

The teaching profession was well represented by the class of '51. Zeb Bradford was superintendent of city schools in Kannapolis. Grammar school teachers included Frances Jenkins, Helen Troutman, and Gail Linebarrier. Teaching in high schools were Betty Collins, Evelyn Garriss, Janice Wood, Sara Carpenter, and Annie Lou Cook. James Waller was a teacher of mathematics at Davidson College.

In the field of medicine I saw John Blount as a pediatrician, Joyce Tucker as an obstetrician, Nancy Jo Safrit as a psychiatrist, and Darwin McCombs as a brain surgeon. Dressed in nurses' white uniforms were Alice Overcash, Ruby Weddington, Bertie Mac Helms, Jackie McCombs, Camellia Linker, Ellen Wilson, Birma Little, and Margaret Ellen Sechler.

Danny Gray, a well-known lawyer, was seeing that justice ruled. Others helping to protect society were Robert Gribble, who was an F.B.I. agent, and Bill Howard and Donald Hinson, who were detectives. Jimmy Lentz and James Brown were chief and assistant chief of police in Kannapolis and Willette Goins was police matron. Checking parking meters in this growing town were Gladys Nall and Mary Patterson. Kermit Goble was a highway patrolman.

In the remodeled and enlarged Belk's in Kannapolis, several of my classmates were employed as clerks. Mattie Ann Starnes, Mary Fowler, and Sarah Moss worked in the ladies' ready-to-wear department. Joyce Johnson and Gaynell Osborne sold cosmetics and Lorene Bonds sold costume jewelry.

Girls who graduated from Cannon High and became secretaries in private offices were Dot Tilley, Betty Brawley, Doris Jean Bange, Judy Allen, and Frances McClamrock.

Head telephone operator for Concord Telephone Company was Evelyn Baker. Other girls who chose this occupation were Morene Lunsford, Marlene Oakley, Jeri Murph, and Sarah Chastain.

The new S and W Cafeteria in Kannapolis had as its chief dietitian, Faye Petrea. Working in the cafeteria were Betty Cameron and Joann Shankle.

Could anyone have imagined that Price Yates would become a taxidermist? Assisting him in the mounting of birds, animals, and fish were Benny Whitley and S. L. Robinette. In an adjoining building was a pet shop jointly owned by Jimmy Rogers and Kenneth Nall.

Peggy Robinette, after taking a special course in ethics of personal beauty in New York City, opened her own shop. Her manicurists were Bennie Baucom and Jean Riggs, and giving facials were Peggy Edmiston and Bettie Rhyne.

The textile industry furnished occupations for a large number of the 1951 graduates. As time keepers in various departments of Cannon Mills I saw Joyce McCollum, Mildred Miller, and Hazel Snipes. Overseers for the company included John Shaver, Jr., Jackie Watson, and Ray McKinney. Heading the department of accounting I saw Johnny Nussman. Others employed by Cannon Mills were Helen Grass, Margaret Walker, Barbara Lamb and Jeanette Morgan.

Odd and unusual careers were chosen by a number of the male members of my graduating class. Eugene Whittington was a famous magician, Jerry Lee Shinn a ventriloquist, and Frenchie Davis was a trainer of carrier pigeons. Gilbert Watts was manufacturing a sure cure for baldness.

The Raleigh News and Observer carried an interesting sports column by Tommy Riggs. He wrote about such outstanding athletes as baseball stars, Charles Lemley and Grady Smith. Also mentioned in his columns were football heroes Bobby Julian and Lee Fink, and Floyd Echerd and Jerry Hollar, professional basketball players.

Away out in the Lone Star State on a big ranch, I saw Billy Fulcher writing pay checks for his workers. A few of them were Alpheus Ford, Charles Bass, Bobby Menius, Delano Hobbs, and Donald Gurley. Making a fortune with his oil wells was Jimmy Smith.

I could tell that the United States would be well prepared if there were another war, when I saw Ray Barbee, J. L. Brooks, Winfred Bryant, Jimmy Lee, and Joe Cavin in uniforms. Some of the girls in the armed forces were Walterine Slawson, Donnie Phillips, and Daphne Grimes. Donald Blanton and Harvey Simon were pilots for Eastern Airlines, and Mary Adams, Gladys Grass, and Barbara Callicutt were airlines stewardesses.

Kannapolis was represented musically by Gwen Peeler, who was touring the world giving violin concerts. Sally Wagner became an opera singer and Jimmy Coggins was another Frank Sinatra. He had stiff competition from Don Michael, an Irish tenor.

Serving as director of city school music in Kannapolis was none other than Dale Mills. Leader of an all-girl orchestra was Gayle Lumsden, and the Philharmonic Orchestra claimed Connie Sue Lumsden as a cello soloist.

Appearing as a dance band leader was Lowell Daniels. Among the members of the band were Jimmy Kale, Kenneth Correll, Frank Coon, Jerry Sides, and Gene McCombs. Vocalists with the band were Gurline Compton and Nanette Davis.

I was surprised to see that Lena McKinley, Annie Sue Adams, and Wanda Barlow were models for fashion magazines. Photographers for some of these magazines were Charles Castor and Bobby Bowles.

At a large girls' school in Massachusetts, Martha Glosson appeared to be the Dean of Girls. As the door of her office opened, out walked Gail Phillips, her secretary. Teaching physical education at this school were Phyllis Spry, Jimmie Gardner, and Barbara Beam.

The next scene carried me back to Kannapolis, where I saw Rex Savage and Harlen Phillips operating a chain of theaters. Some of their managers were Johnny Richardson, Howard Duffell, and James Donahue. Luther Huffman owned a grocery store and Ralph Deal was manager of a furniture store. Priscilla Drolette's bakery served Kannapolis and surrounding towns with its delicious products.

Christine Teal, Phyllis Mundav, and Phyllis Freeland were employed by the "Charlie" Logan shoe store of Charlotte. Bookkeepers for this exclusive shop were Peggy Hall, Betty Jean Jackson, and Jeweldean Howard. The "Rendezvous" a hang-out for teen-agers in Charlotte was owned by Lanier McCarty in partnership with Keith Hart.

Lured by the brilliant lights of a theater on Broadway my eyes read the names of Mildred Bennett, Betty Stafford, Norma Barnhardt, and Nancy Shelf. I later learned that Jackie Stamev and Barbara Lee had been make-up artist and hair stylist for the performers. Stage manager, Henry Tucker, and sound effects man, Marvin Lovette, were also mentioned.

Many of my classmates were married and some that were housewives with no careers were Ruby Eagle, Joyce Hinson, Norma Penninger, Carrie Ewan, Maxine Kerley, Arlene Kinø, Nancy Knight and Vera Kearney.

City people, fond of their pets, are glad to pay for some animal lover to care for them while they are on vacation. Earning a living as pet caretakers were Colleen Goforth, Billy Jo Mullis, and Joyce Bauknight.

Woman's aptitude for home industry turned to a variety of ways to make money. I learned that Jean Peebles was a maker of lamp shades, Nancy Orfield, a rug maker, Betty Wyke made artificial flowers, and Priscilla Teague was a seamstress. Products from these industries were sold throughout the United States.

On radio and television I saw and heard Wade Curran as a news commentator, and Joanne Brooks, Jackie Taylor, and Jimmy Donahue as comedians.

Many members of my class connected themselves with the Y.M.C.A. After Mr. Fesperman retired, Bill Bullock became the new general secretary, and Francis Melton, assisted by Wayne Robinson was physical director for boys. Chief librarian was Mildred Sherrill, and her assistants were Helen Sloop, Mary Deese, and Mary Ella Cauble. Geraldine Hart became general secretary of women's activities and girls' physical directors were Shirley Stevens and Sonja Youngs.

Two autographed books were presented to the Y.M.C.A. in honor of the class of '51. One was a book of poems by Doris Allen, the other a book by the well-known author, Betty Cloning.

The Daily Independent had as circulation manager, Max Collins while Billy Hardin and Harold Moose were linotype operators. The paper carried a column by Ramona Self, news correspondent in Europe.

Seeing that the present facilities for child care of working mothers was inadequate, Ruth Burton presented Mr. Cannon with the facts, and the Cannon Child Welfare Center had its beginning. Serving in various capacities of this nursery were Jean Watts, Carol Edwards, Thelma Roseman, Betty Sloop, and Frances Vinson.

A large dance school in Atlanta, Georgia, was conducted by Sharon Owings and Margaret Newell who specialized in modern dance. Colleen Lentz taught ballet there and Barbara Rogers was an expert teacher of ballroom dancing.

Helping to stamp out poverty and ignorance in Europe were Doris Hardister, Zelia Sides, Mary McWhorter, and Helen Brooks as missionaries.

Among my classmates who chose social work were: Hilda Pennington, Girl Scout leader; Graydene Ross, Juvenile Court worker; and Lou Jean Pethel, helping with child welfare. Taking the place of the old time truant officer, by keeping children in school, were Betty Campbell and Martha Carter. Supervising a large public playground for children were Lilla Walters, Mary Sinmons, and Loretta Vaughn. In a children's clinic I saw Doris McCarn, Eula Mae Wyatt, and Carol Wiles giving free medical care.

On the outskirts of Kannapolis a large greenhouse was owned by Mildred Wyatt and Evelyn Adcock. Selling their flowers in a florist shop were Arma Wiles, Evelyn Rogers, and Wanda Loftis.

I also saw my senior teachers before I awoke from the coma. I was glad to have seen them and my classmates again even if it were in a coma. I am feeling much better now, and hope to be back on my toes soon.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

ARTICLE I

We, the Senior Class of '51, have worked our way up the steep and narrow path which leads to graduation. The time at last has come. Before we happily, yet regretfully, go our separate ways, we do make this our last will and testament, bequeathing our possessions to the rightful heirs.

ARTICLE II

To dear old K.H.S. we leave loyalty and respect.

ARTICLE III

To our principal and the teachers of K.H.S. we wish to express our genuine appreciation and humble thankfulness for their invaluable aid and unselfish assistance in our many problems.

ARTICLE IV

To the oncoming seniors, our beloved juniors, we leave the few privileges we have enjoyed as seniors. To the sophomores and lowly freshmen we leave our ability to keep up the school spirit and to become seniors.

ARTICLE V

I, Annie Sue Adams, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate from high school and my good times to my sister, "Maggie," who will be a rising freshman next year.

BILLY FULCHER
Class Lawyer

I, Mary Adams, do hereby and bequeath to my younger sister, "Maggie," a rising freshman, my place on the Business Staff of the CANNON REPORT, and I leave her all my good teachers; all the bad ones, I just leave. To Jack Tilley, I leave my ability to graduate.

I, Evelyn Adcock, being supposedly sound in body and mind, do hereby will and bequeath my position at the north-tower radiator on cold mornings and my beloved nickname to Eleanor Gullledge.

I, Doris Allen, do hereby will and bequeath my nickname, "Boney," to my brother, Harold, as I am sure you could find his bones better than mine.

I, Judy Allen, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get out of high school to my brother, Warren. To Emily Caraway, I leave my typing ability, 25 words a minute, and my love for Fords.

I, Doris Bange, do hereby will and bequeath my good times at Cannon High to Betty Helms and Virginia Allen and my front seat in assembly to Irene Roberts.

I, Evelyn Baker, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate from high school in four years to my cousin, Gene Creswell, a rising sophomore. All my wishes for a free activity period and my love for the school store, I leave to everybody, knowing they will have them anyway.

I, Ray Barbee, do hereby will and bequeath all of my good times at Cannon High to Joyce Sloop.

I, "Peggy" Barlow, do hereby will and bequeath my good times at Cannon High School to my sister, Mildred, and my cousin, Patty; to Evelyn Honeycutt, I leave my front seat in assembly.

I, Norma Barnhardt, hereby will and bequeath to Jean Kay Dayvault and Phil Tesh my ability to pester "Smilie" Somers and trip teachers passing my monitor post, knowing they have already acquired this skill.

I, Charles Bass, will my good times to R. B. Barnhardt and my ability to finish to Janice Honeycutt and Betty Waldrop.

I, Bennie Baucom, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to run for the bus every morning to Lutecia Talbert, and to Joyce Dendy, I will my monitor post and all my good times at Cannon High.

I, Joyce Bauknight, do hereby will and bequeath my position as library assistant to Helen Rushing, who is a rising senior.

I, Barbara Beam, do hereby will and bequeath my position on the Varsity Basketball Team to Doris Sloop, hoping she will get to play more than I did. To R. B. Barnhardt and Bill Ballard, two rising seniors, I will my good times at Cannon High.

I, Mildred Bennett, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to finish school to my brother, Billy, and my good times to Buise Steen, Virginia Allen, and Betty Helms and to Jackie Gabriel, I will my position on the cheerleading staff.

I, Donald Blanton, hereby will and bequeath to my brother, Harry, and to Roger Lingerfelt my ability to graduate in only four years, fearing they will never make it.

I, John Blount, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in Mrs. Alexander's home room to any junior whose name begins with the first four letters of the alphabet.

I, Lorene Bonds, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to finish high school in four years to my brother, Boyce. To Camilla Waller and June Miller, who are rising sophomores, I will all my good times.

I, Bobby Bowles, hereby will and bequeath my ability to get back in school everytime I've been expelled to Howard Hollaway and Johnny Bowers.

I, Zeb Bradford, do hereby will and bequeath my breathing ability, such as it is, to any poor soul whom "Wildwoman" Rogers has lured into her dramatics class.

I, Betty Brawley, do hereby will and bequeath my position as office page to anyone who is lucky enough to get it fourth period when there isn't anything to do, except answer the telephone. To my sister, Doris, I will my ability to come to school for four years, without missing a single day.

I, Joanne Brooks, hereby will and bequeath my ability to stay in high school only four years to my cousins, Janice and Frances. To my brother, "Sac," I simply leave.

I, J. L. Brooks, being of sound mind (?) and body, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in detention hall to my brother, Guy, knowing he will take full advantage of it.

I, James Brown, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to become a senior and my seat in senior English to Kenneth Price.

I, Winfred Bryant, hereby will my motor bike parking place to Tommy Hatcock Seabolt, hoping that he likes it as well as I did.

I, Bill Bullock, do hereby will and bequeath my basketball playing to Bill Robinette and four years in Cannon High to my brother, David.

I, Ruth Burton, being as sound in mind (?) as in body, do hereby will and bequeath my luck to have Monitor Hall Duty fourth period and lunch fifth period to my cousin, Clark Drake, hoping he can get by with eating both fourth period and fifth period, better than I.

I, Barbara Callicutt, hereby will and bequeath my ability to settle down and go steady my senior year in high school to Phyllis Canup and Anne Carter.

I, Charles Castor, do hereby will my position on the football team to anyone who can keep in practice better than I did.

I, Elnita Ammons Casper, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to sit out front every morning for a half hour to Betty Phillips, a rising junior, if she can sit there as regularly as I did. To my brother, Davis, a rising freshman, I will my ability to graduate in four years, hoping he can do it.

I, Betty Cameron, will and bequeath all my good times at K.H.S. to my sister, Wanda, and my "nutty personality" to Janice, Betty, June, Evelyn, and Valeria.

I, Tommy Hartis, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get along with all of my teachers to Jimmy Reavis and all of my good times in high school to Hugh Freeze.

I, Bertie Mae Helms, hereby will my love for Buicks to Doris Gibson, knowing she likes them as well as I. My good times, I leave to Arnold Greene.

I, Donald Hinson, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to finish school in thirteen years to "Luke."

I, Joyce Hinson, do hereby will and bequeath to Betty Talbert my ability to get a diamond ring while still in school.

I, Delano Hobbs, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate to Donald Marlowe.

I, Jerry Hollar, do hereby will and bequeath my fond and cherished memories of these years to my younger brother, Kenneth. To anyone that likes to sit, I leave my position on the basketball team.

I, Doris Huneycutt, wishing I had a mind, bequeath to my "little brother," Hugh Freeze, the privilege to bequeath something to somebody else when he gets to be a senior, and to my friend, Janice Earl Dennis, I give my front seat in Miss Gray's class and my ability to work harder my senior year than any other.

I, Bill Howard, will my ability to talk and get away with it to Billy Robinette.

I, Jeweldean Howard, do hereby will and bequeath my daring to drive any kind of car with a gang of girls and have fun, to any girl with the nerve! And to any girl with the ambition to be a secretary, I leave all the luck which they will need for shorthand!

I, Luther Huffman, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get along with girls to my brother, Kenneth Huffman, and my ability to work at the Dixie Home Stores to Kenneth Stokes, knowing he wants to.

I, Betty Jackson, do hereby will and bequeath my love for basketball and also my position as manager of the girls' basketball team to Shelia Sasser, who is a rising junior.

I, Frances Jenkins, do hereby will and bequeath to Mildred Belcher, a rising sophomore (we hope), my ability to eat in the school cafeteria for four years and not break any milk bottles.

I, Joyce Johnson, do hereby will and bequeath my place at the lunch counter at Mann's to Phyllis Bentley, Faye Lipe, Nancy Payne and June Gurlev; and to Emily Caraway and Ray Murphy, I leave my love for class rings.

I, Bobby Julian, do hereby will and bequeath my false teeth to Benny Wright, knowing that he will probably need them sooner or later.

I, Janie Kale, do hereby will and bequeath my monitor position to anyone who thinks he can keep students from using the fire escape as an exit.

I, Jimmy Kale, do hereby will and bequeath my football position to Donald Ritchie, who almost beat me out of it this year, and to Harold Hudspeth and Gary Sherrill, I leave all my times, good and bad.

I, Verona Belle Kearney, do hereby will and bequeath my love for dear ole Cannon High and Mr. McCarn to Tommy Braekens. To "Mickey" Rollings, I leave my ability to go steady and stay single. For C. W. Barnhardt, I especially leave my senior seat in assembly.

I, Maxine Kerley Broadway, do hereby will and bequeath all my good times at K.H.S. to my brother, Ray; and to Janice Stafford, I leave my love for black-headed boys (Otis and Delano). To Charles King I leave my ability to get along with a certain blonde, knowing he has desire of it!

I, Ann Keziah, do hereby will and bequeath my good times at Cannon High to Annie Armstrong and Marianne Sherrill, and my monitor post to Eddie Durham, hoping he suffers as much as I have.

I, Bobby Kiser, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate from high school to my brother, Billy, and Don Compton. I will any of my good times to Betty Compton.

I, Nancy Knight, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to go steady two years without getting married to Phyllis Beam; to Etta Sue Boggs, my one little dimple; to Jimmy Howell, my ability to get through high school in four years, and to Beverly Cobb, all my good times at K.H.S.

I, Barbara Lamb, being of sound mind and body do hereby will and bequeath my ability to acquire such nicknames as "Murock," "Toothpick," and "Lena the Hyena" to anyone crazy enough to want them.

I, Jimmy Lentz, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in study hall to all the gang; and to Pauline Teal, a rising senior, I leave the ability not to get in the detention hall for four years.

I, Barbara Joan Lee, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to take shorthand two years without failing to Marie Mullis.

I, Marshall James (Jimmy) Lee, hereby leave the shop to some poor fellow that thinks it's a racket.

I, Colleen Lentz, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate in four years to Buise Steen and Phyllis Calicutt, knowing they will succeed. To Sandra Gordon, I leave my good times.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Charles Lemly, do hereby will and bequeath my ability of never taking any books home to Kenneth Argo, knowing how he has to take books home. My ability to pitch horseshoes I leave to Mason Parks.

I, Gail Linebarrier, bequeath my undesirable shortness to Mr. "Big Ben" Ellis. To Miss Rogers, I leave Shakespeare.

I, Camellia (Camie) Linker, of sound mind (?), do hereby will and bequeath my seat in banking and my love for Mrs. Martin to my cousin, Nancy Viola.

I, Birma Little, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to learn shorthand and to finish high school in four years to Margaret Scarborough, hoping she enjoys it half as much as I did.

I, Wanda Loftis, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate in four years to my brother, Sonny, who is a rising junior, my love for the Navy to Bobby Helms, and to Helen Lacy, my favorite teacher, Mrs. Martin.

I, "Charlie" Logan, in sound mind, I hope, cast a spell on everyone who has stepped upon me on my monitor post. Since I have a freshman sister, here's hoping her high school days are full of happy events. To Anne Carter and Nancy Lentz, I leave my many boy friends, hoping they can take care of them as I have.

I, Marvin Lovett, do hereby will and bequeath my good times at Cannon High to my brother, Everett; my seat in the cafeteria to any lucky person who can stay alive four years as I did. Last but not least, I leave my place as stage hand to anyone who likes to stay up and work all night.

I, Connie Lumsden, do hereby will and bequeath my love for music and my good times at Cannon High to Janice Brinkley, and I leave my cello to Shirley Thomas.

I, Gayle Lumsden, do hereby will and bequeath my many good times to my cousin, Gene Walker. I leave my sympathy at having a boy friend in college to Jean Kay Davvault, and to Shirley Watts I leave my monitor post in the south tower, hoping that she has some Eskimo blood in her veins.

I, Morene Lunsford, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to finish high school in four years to my sister, Doris. To Carol Lou McLain, I leave my good times at K.H.S.

I, Francis Melton, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in Bible to Charles Steen and my good times to "Buck" Cooke.

I, Bobby Menius, do hereby will and bequeath all my good times at Cannon High to my sister, Atha. To Margaret Pethel, I leave my love.

I, Mildred Miller, do hereby will, and hope that it is granted, that the "Old Cannon High" be sold and equally distributed among all those left since they will have a new building next year. My love for the school I will to "Skip" Fowler and June Miller.

I, Dale Mills, do hereby will and bequeath my position as drum major to anyone who is stupid enough to take it and my office of student leader of the band to Phil Tesh.

I, Jeanette Morgan, do hereby will and bequeath my love for my teachers who have been very nice to me and my good times at Cannon High to Junior Jolly, a rising sophomore. I will my seat in typing to anyone lucky enough to get it.

I, Sarah Moss, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in the senior class to my cousin, "Phil" Moss. To Carol Ferguson, a rising junior, I leave my giggles, and to Gail Payne, a rising sophomore, I leave my good times at Cannon High.

I, Billie Jo Mullis, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to get through high school in four years, without getting into trouble, to my brother, Parks, a rising sophomore, because I know he will need it.

I, Phyllis Munday, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to have four wrecks in four weeks and not get hurt to Phyllis Canup and my good times at O. D. to Nancy Lentz.

I, Jeri Murph, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to finish high school in four years, without getting into trouble, to my cousin, Teddy, knowing he will need it and to Phyllis Williams and Steve Mitchell, all my good times.

I, Lanier McCarty, do hereby will and bequeath my knowledge of Spanish to John Alec Troutman, seeing that he needs a little knowledge of this language.

I, Frances McClamrock, being of sound mind (?), do hereby will and bequeath my wonderful senior year to Phyllis Smith. To Barbara Keever, Gerry Foil, and Kay Roberson I leave my deep devotion to Mrs. Martin, and to all students now and in time to come, my love for the very best of schools, Cannon High.

I, Darwin McCombs, do hereby will and bequeath my love for science and arguments to Dale McCombs and my lack of "cents," I leave to anyone crazy enough to go steady.

I, Gene McCombs, do hereby will and bequeath my good times to Wallace Watkins. I leave my ability to sleep without detection during class to Donald Black.

I, Jackie McCombs, do hereby will and bequeath my good times at J. W. Cannon High School to my brother, Dale, a rising sophomore, and my seat in the senior section to anyone capable of filling it.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

I, Ray McKinney, do hereby will and bequeath all my many talents and my parking place in the driveway of the horseshoe to Howard Holloway, Mason "Shoulders" Parks, and Johnny Bowers, hoping they don't get a ticket. My ability to finish high school in four years, I leave to my cousin, Max McKinney, knowing how much he'll need some ability.

I, Lena McKinley, will my good times at the student government dances to my brother, Jimmy, in hopes that he will enjoy them as much as I.

I, Harold David Moore, hereby will and bequeath my ability to get along with teachers to Tommy Upright, who seems to need it.

I, Mary McWhorter, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate to my brother, Billy, and my cousin, Charles; to Louella Richardson, I leave my geometry book, hoping she understands it better than I.

I, Gladys Nall, do hereby will and bequeath to Donald Pless my seat on the front row in first period study hall.

I, Kenneth Nall, do hereby will and bequeath to Bobby Quay my ability to play a cornet and my headaches from studying to Don Black.

I, Margaret Newell, will and bequeath to my sister, Joann, the chewing gum under my desks, hoping she can pull it off better than I. To Phillip Rainey, I leave my Readers' Digest, knowing he would rather read it than work general math.

I, Johnny Nussman, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to pass Spanish to my brother, Bruce Nussman, a freshman, if he is crazy enough to take it.

I, Marlene Oakley, do hereby will and bequeath my height and ability to graduate to my sister, Shirley Ann, a rising sophomore; and my good times in study hall to Gene Riddle and Harold Morris.

I, Nancy Orfield, do hereby will and bequeath all I have to Sandra Henley, a rising sophomore, hoping she will do better with it than I did.

I, Gaynell "Sissie" Osborne, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath all my good times at J. W. Cannon High School to "Smoochie" Williams, "Junie" Yates, and my sister, Glenda Osborne, and to my little brother, Starling, who will graduate in '58, my ability to get through school without failing a grade.

I, Alice Overcash, being of sound body and mind do hereby will and bequeath my monitor post in front of 301 to my sister, Elaine, a rising sophomore. To my brother, Ted, a member of the graduating class of '57, I leave my ability to keep quiet in class. To Nancy Matthews, I leave the shining gleams in my big brown eyes.

Why The Shopping Starts Early At Dixie-Home

Courtesy

Dixie-Home courtesy is more than a gesture to just Mother and Dad. Dixie-Home personnel are trained to give friendly help to the children who shop with Mother's list. Many of Dixie-Home's adult shoppers of today were smiling child-shoppers in the 1940's. Send your child, or come in personally, for the sincere, courteous service—so well known at Dixie-Home!

I, Ellen Wilson, do hereby will and bequeath all my teachers at Cannon High to my sister, Joan. They have taught me more than I could learn; and I shall have no further use for them.

I, Janice Wood, do hereby will and bequeath all our bulletin boards to Jean Kay Dayvault to do alone. To Janice Earle Dennis, I leave my iev monitor post in the south tower, warning her to dress as for the South Pole.

I, Jo Ann Woolard, do hereby will and bequeath to my sister, Carol, a rising freshman, the luck of having Mrs. Martin as a teacher for two wonderful years.

I, Eula Mae Wyatt, do hereby will and bequeath all my good times to Ray Wyatt and Keith Helms, who are rising sophomores, knowing they will enjoy them as much as I did. To Hazel Dancey, I leave my senior seat in assembly; and to all underclassmen, good luck.

I, Mildred Wyatt, do hereby will and bequeath my ability to graduate to my sister, Joyce, who will become a rising freshman next year. To Shirley Perkins, I leave my love for dear ole Cannon High.

I, Price Yates, do hereby will and bequeath to my brother, Wayne, my B's in English under Miss Gray and to everybody else, the chance to get it the best way they can.

I, Sonja J. Youngs, do hereby will and bequeath the A.B.C. gum under my study hall seat and the wonderful pleasure of being a senior to Barbara Campbell.

I, Norma Yoos, do hereby will and bequeath my seat in dramatics to Millicent Rosenberg, hoping she will enjoy it as much as I did.
